Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 13 June 2002.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4 and 8-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 4,508,058 to Jakobson et al in view of European Patent No. 0244642 to Eugene P. Finger.

Regarding Claims 1-4 and 8-10, Jakobson et al discloses an animal related apparatus with a robot (Jakobson et al #8) for performing an animal relates operation, the robot being associated with a control means (Jakobson et al #5), at least one animal related device (#6) associated with the control means, the robot being provided with a robot arm (Jakobson et al #15) adapted to move the animal related device towards the animal, teat location device, teat cleaning device (Jakobson et al Fig. 6 #18), gate means (Jakobson et al #4"). A registering means (Jakobson et al #14 and #18), a control means adapted to generate a signal (Jakobson et al Col. 6 line 27-28) when a predetermined threshold value has been reached. Jakobson et al is silent on a predetermined threshold value and running value set for each of the animal related device, the robot, and the complete related operation. However, Finger teaches that it is old and well-known in the art of routine mechanical maintenance practices to monitor the total operating time of a machine or apparatus and that the cumulative operating measurement provides a basis for determining when the device should receive maintenance. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the apparatus teachings of Jakobson et al with the maintenance practices of Finger since preventative maintenance procedures are a well-known means of preventing unnecessary operational down time do to mechanical failures and to keep the system clean to prevent the spread of bacteria and disease to the other members of the herd (Finger Col.1) thus assuring reliability of a system.

Claims 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 4,508,058 to Jakobson et al as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of WO 96/36212 to Innings et al.

Regarding Claims 5-7, Jakobson et al teaches that the animal related device has milking equipment with a teat-cup (Jakobson et al Fig.6) and the control means being adapted to register the cumulative running value of the components of the apparatus (Figner Col. 1), but is silent on how the teat-cup operates. However, Innings et al teaches a teat cup configuration having a shell and a liner forming an intermediate space (Innings et al #6), the space being connectable to a source of vacuum (Innings et al #13) via a pulsator for creating a pulsating vacuum (Innings et al #7), the pulsator associated with the control means (Innings et al #20). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the teachings of Jakobson et al with the teachings of Innings et al since it is old and well-known in the art of animal husbandry to have a lined pulsating teat cup with a vacuum in an automated milking configuration and the teachings of Innings et al is merely an alternate equivalent teat cup configuration selected for efficient automated milking procedures.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-10 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

U.S. Patent No. 6,237,530, U.S. Patent No. 5,771,837, and U.S. Patent No. 6,019,061.
